

Export Regulations and Compliance Workshop

Tuesday August 11, 2009

State College, PA

U.S. export control regulations affect all U.S. companies regardless of company size or industry. Over the last few years, the U.S. government has increased its enforcement activities and significantly increased the penalties for violations. Do not become one of the unfortunate companies facing costly penalties because they were unaware of U.S. export regulations or had an insufficient export compliance program in place.

Join us on August 11, 2009 in State College, Pennsylvania for a half day workshop on U.S. Export Regulations & Compliance. Leading the workshop will be Susanne Cook, an international attorney at the Pittsburgh based law firm of Cohen & Grigsby with more than 20 years of experience in international law.

Additionally, a small panel of exporters will share their experiences and how they approach export compliance.

Workshop Details

- Dates: August 11, 2009
- Location: The 329 Building, Room 115
Innovation Boulevard
University Park, PA 16802
- Time: 8:00am Registration 8:30am– 1:00pm Workshop
- Fee: $50.00 (Includes breakfast and boxed lunch)

To register or for additional information please visit www.buyusa.gov/pittsburgh/statecollege_exportregs.html or contact Steven Murray at phone: 412 644-2819 / email: at steven.murray@mail.doc.gov

What will be covered?

- Overview of export controls
- Determining if you need a license
- Export compliance programs
- Disclosures, what to do when the unexpected happens

Who should attend?

Any company currently exporting or considering exporting that needs to develop a better understanding of U.S. export regulations or would like a refresher course on export regulations.

Also, any company that does not currently have an export compliance program in place is strongly urged to attend.

